Close to the capital of Kyrgyzstan - the city of Bishkek is a wonderful place - the gorge Chunkurchak. There's a 40-meter-high Golubinyi waterfall, as well as excellent rocks for climbing. There are many prepared routes of different levels. Often here you can see the training of the Bishkek climbers. This granite canyon has for many years attracted Kyrgyz mountaineers and climbers.

PROGRAM DETAIL

8 a.m. Leaving Bishkek

Transfer from Bishkek to Cunkurchak canyon takes about an hour. Some rock routes are accessible directly from the car. Others need to walk on foot. There are about ten rock massifs and on each of several routes.

The choice of routes depends on the participants' skills. There are bolts on the rocks and places for fixing the ropes at the top. It is also possible trad climbing. The height of the routes is about 20-25 meters. There is also a multi-pitch.

Our equipment is in good condition and has international quality certificates. Our instructors have many years of experience in coaching in climbing and mountaineering.

In the middle of the day walk to the Golubinyi (Pigeon) Waterfall, lunch on the river bank.

Please follow the guides' recommendations and do not leave the group without notifying the guides.
